We are bouncing back with financial results and commercial/marketing partnerships. Our partners cooperated and worked with us throughout the pandemic.

Mr. Shaw mentioned the efforts by Ellen Adams and the DEI committee that she is leading for the efforts for change.

There was discussion about the athletes and staff with positive COVID tests. The biggest impact that we experienced was the quarantine and isolation requirements. We traveled the globe for more than 250 days for training and competitions. Mr. Shaw commended Troy Taylor and Gillian Bower for the COVID protocols that they implemented and the testing measures taken.

Ms. McAffee discussed the FY2022 operating budget and also recapped the financial results of FY21 and FY20. In May, we refinanced the loan (bond) on our building as well as our line of credit, which currently has a zero balance. We reached an over $60M endowment value this year.

Ms. McAffee discussed the FY22 budget with the amounts expected from Foundation, Marketing, Membership, USOPC, Endowment Grant, and other revenue sources. The budget is restoring to amounts prior to the pandemic. Regarding the expenses, Ms. McAffee summarized the expected expenses for athletic elite teams, the training center, domestic programs, foundation, marketing, communications, and SG&A. Ms. McAffee noted that we have had a 27% increase in our athletic budget since FY15 to FY22.

On the PPP funding, we received forgiveness on our first loan and we have applied for forgiveness on our second loan. We expect to receive a response by the end of the calendar year.

Ms. McAffee also touched briefly on the FY22 revenue risks that are on the radar:

Finally, Ms. Pitt mentioned the membership Avalanche training course developed with the BRASS Foundation and the Utah Avalanched Center and that 12,200 members have completed it.

11. BRASS Update

Mr. Berlack reported that it was tough year with high avalanche conditions resulting in several fatalities and it is important to continue the dialog and training of on snow safety and have noticed a big increase in participation amongst resorts.

The stone Bench outside the COE is a great is a reminder for the athletes and everyone the importance of snow safety and our relationship between BRASS and U.S. Ski & Snowboard. A big thank you to Laura Askel for getting this Bench coordinated.

We have created 10-minute and 90-minute programs for members and coaches, currently, 11,800 members and 754 coaches have been trained but emphasized that we still need to do more for on-snow training. Mr. Berlack mentioned that coaches need more snow safety training. BRASS is creating more content for the educational webinars to be included with our coach certification programs.

New programs include: Danger in the Backcountry. Nick Sargent commented that the NA Snowsport journalist association has reported that backcountry gear is the highest growth area.
BRASS hosted the first annual “An Evening with Off Piste, Tragedy in the Alps” event, that was held on the anniversary (January 5th) with a great panel of guests and the video was watched by more than 1 million people. BRASS’s next steps: more BRASS-generated continuing education, continued member and coach education, on-snow training for coaches, and revisit learnings from accident. Lindsay Mann will be assisting BRASS with implementing their goals.

Mr. Nickerson thanked Mr. Landstrom on his leadership and receiving the Blegen award. Mr. Nickerson reported that the AAC had thirteen meetings this year. Mr. Nickerson thanked all the members on the AAC, including thanking Heather McPhie Watanabe for her leadership and mentorship over the last year.

Over the last few years our focus has been Communication, Culture and Funding. This year we would like to focus on Communication, Culture, and more Athlete Representation. There is never too much communication and we can keep improving. Now with most of the teams fully funded, we are still needing to keep our focus to bring the athlete voice across committees. The more athlete representatives that we put together helps the athletes have a stronger voice.

Mr. Nickerson reviewed with the Board that originally, there was only a requirement of 20% athlete representation on board and designated committees and then after the USA Gymnastics scandal and additional changes, the USOPC wanted the athlete voice to be bigger, up to 33.3%. It’s hard to get that core group of athletes (any athlete that has been to the Olympics or World Championships in the past 10 years). The AAC group was tasked with defining the 10 year+ athlete. The AAC wanted to have a broader net to capture athletes and created the following definition of a “any American athlete retired for 10 years, but during their career, completed at the highest level of competition in their sport discipline. As of May 21, 2021, the AAC defines this as having competed at a World Cup or Grand Prix Event.”

The next topic discussed was the Board seats for athletes. To get to the 33.3% on the Board, there needs to be two (2) more athletes to fill voting seats, for a total of eight (8) athlete reps. We decided to have the USOPC AAC athlete rep become a voting member, and the 24th seat (or currently vacant At-Large seat) would be the new alumni athlete board rep (10 year or 10 year+), with the AAC voting on this 24th seat instead of bringing it to the entire eligible athlete voting pool. The reasoning behind this is there not a representative number across all sports, and the current track record of voter turnout has been very low amongst the 10 year athletes and we do not want to have athletes voting from a small description of another athlete they have never met. We recommend that the NGB Athlete Representation Working Group proposes that the AAC votes on this board seat.

Ms. Kosglow added that when the Bylaws go into effect, the USOPC AAC rep will become an official voting member.

13. USOPC Athletes’ Advisory Council Report

Ms. Cook provided the report that she and Mr. Weibrecht worked on together. She thanked Holly Brooks for her help transitioning the role to Ms. Cook and Mr. Weibrecht. Ms. Cook discussed the athletes review of the U.S. Center of SafeSport’s processing of reports and found, after speaking with other NGB USOPC AAC representatives, that this is a universal theme from the other NGBs and they are working towards exploring a collective voice to SafeSport and a big thanks to Alison Pitt and Tom Wallisch for their help and guidance.

Ms. Cook also reported that the USOPC AAC addressed the upcoming Tokyo and Beijing Olympics regarding COVID and with Beijing specifically, athletes discussed potential boycotting and it was agreed by the group that a boycott would have the effect of the 1984 Russia boycott. There was additional discussion on Rule 40 and Rule 50 with updates to come at a later time.

There was discussion on the steps for the allocation of funding for sport disciplines. This decision would be made by the upcoming winter season. Mr. Shaw and Mr. Nelson will follow up with the Board on setting up the working group and further reviewing the allocation framework.

After the opportunity for discussion and questions Ms. Thompson-Graves moved, and Ms. Lussi seconded the motion to approve the motions as presented and submitted by the Sport Committees. The motion passed unanimously.

15. FIS and USOPC Report

Ms. Randall reported that the USOPC is working on preparations for Tokyo. The safety protocols are in place and there are steps being taken to widely distribute the vaccine. The Olympics will look a lot different from what we are used to, but the playbooks and safety protocols are in place. Beijing should follow similar playbooks and safety protocols.

Rule 50, specifically the ability to protest to demonstrate at the Games and on the podium. Ms. Randall discussed the comprehensive surveying that took place internationally. The decision was to keep the rule, but to provide clarification and to give athletes an opportunity to demonstrate at the Games, but to protect the competition and the podium from demonstrations.

The USOPC has also had a committee on social justice. The USOPC is going to allow for protests at Olympic trials; however, the USOPC cannot protect an athlete if the athlete protests at an international event. The IOC and federations can still sanction the athlete for the protest. Ms. Randall mentioned that there are a lot of steps taking place to educate athletes.

Ms. Randall also provided information about athletes and staff going into Beijing. The IOC and the USOPC cannot protect athletes and staff that enter into China if either make political statements that offends the local government.

Ms. Randall provided an update on all of the mental health services ramped up at the USOPC this past year and the new team and resources that were provided.

Finally, Ms. Randall discussed the actions in Washington and discussions around boycotting. Senator Romney is assisting with communicating why boycotting the Games hurts the athletes.

Mr. Paine provided an update on the activities at FIS and the upcoming election on June 4th, the first election in 70 years. There are four candidates for president. It is a very competitive process. The first round of the election will take place on June 4th and it will require a majority of the vote to win. Dexter, Kipp, Tiger, and Hannah are interviewing the candidates. They have a high priority of someone who will support change (gender equity, inclusion, governance)

There will also be Council elections for fifteen spots. Mr. Dexter asked for to received feedback on any of the candidates.

Ms. Kearney, the athlete representative on the Council, also reported on the requested changes including voting rights for the athletes. The athletes supported a proposal for dual moguls for 2026. Eleven nations have submitted motions for dual moguls for 2026. There were no elections for this year, so the same Council members will be seated for the upcoming year until next year’s in person meeting and election.

Mr. Nelson thanked Ms. Randall, Mr. Paine, and Ms. Kearney for their efforts and participation.

16. Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Action Plan Update

Ms. Adams reported two new members: Donna Burton and Sydney McNiff Johnson. Ms. Adams also reported that the first DEI Champion award recipient is Henri Rivers.

Ms. Adams introduced Annie Kao, our consultant assisting with our DEI action plan update. Ms. Kao mentioned the changes to the DEI action plan that include expanding the definition of equity by June 1st. On the DEI action plan, Ms. Kao has charted a path for the specific action items over the next three years. Key highlights of action items include using the existing six DEI pillars and matching them with leaders and members to create efficiencies, accountabilities, and clarity.

The first pillar is Leadership and Governance with its top priority of establishing a DEI budget, without a reliable source of resources to support DEI, the rest of the pillars risk becoming deprioritized.

The second pillar is Training and Education with development of a year-over-year training plan with a logical progression (the training team will start with staff, the board, then athletes and move to Membership).

The third pillar is Expanded Access and Representation consolidating the Gender Equity Group and Racial Inclusion Group. The key priority is to draft best practices and develop a target for recruiting and hiring processes.
The fourth pillar is Recognition by helping to create recognition around diversity.

The fifth pillar is Website and Public facing Content to diversifying our content, deepen relationships with other organizations that target diversified youth in our sports. With authenticity and not just picking stories with current focus.

The sixth pillar is Partnerships by looking to continue to collaborate with and deepen relationships with various external community partners or organizations that target under-represented communities.
